NEW NORWAY

A meeting of representatives of the school districts which took part in the recent school fair was convened to meet in New Norway, Saturday December 9th. The government grant of $46.77 having just come to hand, and sufficient time having elapsed for the rendering of account and the prize claims, it was considered that all business for the present year could be arranged at this meeting. Owing, presumably, to the fact that the government could not be present and therefore, for the benefit of those interested, it is deemed advisable to publish the following financial statement:

Receipts $323.57
Expenses 51.05
Prizes 203.35

Balance in hand 77.95

It is regrettable that several young people who won prizes were not received, and it is hoped to have a little longer for consideration of their claims.

Christmas

Once more we reach a finger post,
Upon life's broad highway.
To keep a tryst with Father Time
Who comes with greetings gay.
Leave care and trouble to themselves
Let pleasure hold full sway,
Hark to the laughter and the song,
All hail to Christmas Day.

The old folks and the youngsters join
In play and merry jest,
Or in the singing of the songs
That old folks love the best.
Be sure to remember that they bring
A light a gilding to the scene
'Luminous all the happy hours
That crowd the Christmas Day.

A Thought for Christmastide

"God bless us every one!" said Tiny Tim.

Many years have passed since Charles Dickens wrote "A Christmas Carol" with its merciless revelation of the soul cramping power of greed for material wealth, and its glowing picture of the love and spiritual peace that comes to those whose sympathy for humanity finds outlet in deeds as well as words.

An never before the world about you needs the practical application of the lesson Dickens sought to teach. Everywhere, in the country side, in the village, in the town, in the city, there are Tiny Tims. There are older folk too, sick in body, troubled in mind, oppressed with fears for those dependent upon them, and with the aches and pains of old age. You have wondered what they managed to get along from, what source they drew their unquenchable belief in the coming of a brighter day.

To such as these a kindly thought put into action, may make all the difference between "A Merry Christmass" and one in which the smile of courage is all too close to tears. The reminder with a kindly smile that even your closest friends will be illuminated by a more radiant glow if you know that at least one home-bred needs have been satisfied and faith in mankind renewed, because of your thoughtfulness. There may be others too in no want for that which money can buy, but those souls are paraded for lack of the encouragement you could give. The encouragement you could give, to those who are too late to wish that the friendly smile and the word of cheer had been given as freely as they were longingly hoped for. Be prodigal with them now. Danish false pride and cultivated anguish. Remember the story of the first Christmas, an old story even now. Open with the door of your heart to its message and its glory. So spread you the Christmas spirit with a smile, the smile of the days of old. So, shall you always be able to say with the abiding faith of poor and crippled Tiny Tim.

The Spirit of
Christmas

The spirit of Christmas is emphatically the spirit of goodwill. There is a desire on the part of those who participate in it to make every one happy. The question of worthiness and unworthiness is relegated to the background, and the attempt is made to bring a little more of joy and gladness to others after work or play. And while it uplifts family life, it does not restrict itself to the family circle, but seeks to bring pleasure to as many as possible. And it is this prevailing spirit of goodwill lying back of our Christmas giving and planning which makes the occasion so enjoyable and so helpful. In it we seem somehow to come a little nearer to our neighbors and the idea of human brotherhood and greater understanding.

When the angels sang, or played "Peace on Earth" they struck a key note which is sounding today over all the world. From the manger in Bethlehem there goes forth in ever-widening circles the spirit of peace. What better time can there be than this Christmas time for us to bury old grudges, and be reconciled to old ones. And when we are able to do this, it is easy to forgive and forget, and those could come few greater boons to some hearts than this blessing of forgiveness, forgiving one another even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven us. And while the Christmas bells are ringing and the Christmas music is filling the air it would be an unspeakable blessing if the hearts of men would quietly and for ever throw away from them all hatefulness and all malice, and extend a universal amnesty to all enemies. Christmas is a time of forgiveness, as well as of peace. Burn goodwill means much more than forgiveness, it means the unrestricted outflow of kindly thoughts and words and deeds. It means understanding, sympathy, and the use of money and our influence to bring greater happiness to others, especially to those whose need seems to be the greatest. The question of merit does not enter into the matter so much, but the question of need; and it is a delightful thing, when God makes it possible for us to increase in any degree the comfort and happiness of our fellowmen. The spirit of Christmas will has its way in spirit and flesh and softness are traits aside. It seems as though heaven came very near to earth, as both the givers and the receivers rejoice together. It may be that wealth is very limited, but the spirit of Christmas is not restricted to golden chanels, even the poorest may share the happiness of helping others.—Ex.

Christmas
Giving

Making a present as payment for a present that you have received is a poor kind of Christmas giving. So, too, is giving what you wish to get rid of. When a girl gives away a pair of new shoes that she does not like, she does not prove that she is generous; she merely escapes the accusation that she is a dog in the manger. A third type of giver focuses his or her attention on the recipient's welfare, not on the gift itself. The conscientious daughter may well think of her mother's comfort, but that does not mean that she is giving a gift. A gift is a gift when it gives pleasure. The gift should be for her alone, yet with it should go all the kindness of spirit of the giver. "The gift without the giver is bare." Though the force of this line is blunted by familiarity, it sums up the great fact that true Christmas giving is a matter, not of hand or mind or pocket, but of heart.

At the Toy Store Window

There's a row of little faces every night outside the store. Where they never draw the curtains when the watchman locks the door, eager, waiting little faces, looking at the window of toys. The window will bring many a Merry Christmas to a host of girls and boys. Every night they stand there waiting, lattered children, in a row. Looking at the only Christmas that they possibly can know. Look them over, Mr. Shopper, when you walk down town tonight. Thin and hungry little children, bearing a brief delight.

Even you, Mr. Shopper, Christmas which is there is just a dream, just a swiftly passing vision of how happiness might seem. And perhaps when you have seen them you will hunt up Santa Claus. For they sadly need somebody who knows how to please their cause. Santa Claus has swarms of children on his Christmas calling list, but he has no names to it if you seen him and him say, "Help the old man out a little—he'll be glad to aid your rate." To the fund that he's investing in the spreading of delight.

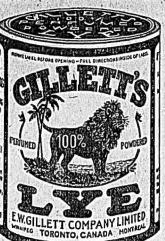

And these little wistful children will be grateful all the year.

For their share so long denied them, of the blessed Christmas cheer.

SUFFERED TERRIBLY
FOR FOUR YEARS
WITH HEART TROUBLE

Of late years heart trouble has become very prevalent, and we know of no remedy that will do so much to make the heart regain its strength and vigor, regular exercise and rest, and a healthy nervous condition as will Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Miss Jean D. Phillips, Shubenacadie, N. S., writes:—"I suffered terribly for four years, with heart trouble. If I had to walk fast or go up stairs I would get tired very quickly. I tried different remedies, but could not find anything that seemed to do me any good. One of my friends advised me to take Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and I certainly received good results. I can definitely say I feel like a brand new person. I highly recommend them to anyone who is troubled with heart trouble."

CHRISTMAS BELLS

I heard the bells on Christmas Day,
The old familiar carols play.
And wide and sweet
The words repeat.
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.
And though how, as the day had come
The bellies of all Christendom,
Had rolled along.
The unbroken song
The peace on earth, good-will to men.
Till, ringing, singing on its way,
The world revolved from night to day.
A voice, a chime,
A chime sublime.
Peace on earth, good-will to men.
Then, from each black, accursed mouth
The cannon thundered in the south
And with the sound
The carols drowned.
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.
It was as if an earthquake rent
The heartbeats of a continent,
And made forlorn
The household horn.
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.
Then pealed the bells more, long and loud
God is not dead, nor doth he sleep,
The wrong shall fall,
The right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men!

Curious Christmas Presents

Most of us receive white elephants at Christmas, minus trunks and tails, but Mark Twain, the American humorist, did actually receive an elephant Yule tide. Just before the festive season a great friend wrote and told him if he was willing to accept an elephant as a token of his regard, it would arrive in due course.

Whether Mark looked upon the whole thing as a joke or not one can say, but he answered the letter by return, thanking his friend for the pleasant mystery for the bidders was in the fact that nothing but the postmark gave a clue to the contents of the package. So the bidder might get a Chinese trinket or a curiously from Persia, or just some common thing from some place in the United States.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

FROM REV. W. H. IRWIN

1922. Poor they were oppressed by great and unmeasured powers, and their hearts ached beneath the pain and discouragement of it. Are we without such experiences? Men in those days who were wise enough said "This is not all of life; there is a liberty, a full orbit existence that we as yet know nothing about and it is the God-given heritage of men," and they fixed from their seats and exalted them of their eyes upon the brilliant star blaze, out upon their mental horizon, just as we in Canada are doing now. And they said: "Under that star God is quickening with feet in Canada today. He is alarmed at the signs and portents going to reveal Himself in a new birth, by which he means that the bending day of King, money shall be dethroned, and that the world will be the same again. He is pronouncing the new born political and social convictions, and declaring that they must be put to death. But the wise men who have eyes to see know that God has spoken, that in this new born life lies the world's hope and that with deep spiritual stirrings they are staking the best they have at the moment upon the God of the new birth, upon our whereabouts and Canada's young heart has been made to ache as her sons have suffered and died on the field of battle. She bore up only under the hope expressed in a convolution of grief "never again!" "never again!" And today in Canada if we listen we hear the angel chorus singing through pulpit and press, through song and story "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

RAILWAY ST. E. WETASKIWINTHE RIGHT TOYS TO GIVE

(By Mary A. Roberts)

Parents and others who gives toys to children at Christmas (or at any other time) sometimes hold the belief that any sort of toy will amuse a child in a suitable gift.

It is not so. There is a limit to what a child can have. There is something back of that toy, something really worth while, it is a waste of money. A toy should always have two purposes; first, to please and amuse the child; second, to really benefit the child. This can easily be done.

A toy that is really good for a child benefits a little girl first, because it pleases her to "iron just like Mother". Mother should be the one the child can easily dress the clothes, how to fold for ironing, how to use starch. The child very soon learns how to make her doll's dresses as nice and smooth as her own that Mother wears. And the never gets how to iron; Result—it proved to be the right kind of toy.

Give a small boy a set of metal construction parts and ask him if he can make a toy airplane. He sits down and works over it until he sees it out, and then you are proud of him as he is of what he has made.

There are many mechanical appliances which will bring out all of a boy's constructive ingenuity and will prove a source of great satisfaction and enjoyment to him. Metal construction sets are marvels to a growing boy; with some of these sets he can build a thousand different structures, and when all are put together he may be finding his career.

For girls there will be any thing to take the place of the doll. How enthusiastic little Mother becomes in her new world, and she quickly learns to make doll's clothes to care for her little bed, and a great many other domestic things which would not interest her in any other way. Toys can be Mother's co-works.

And girls like to cut out things. Educational cut-outs are innumerable and very inexpensive. Give a little girl a furniture set and she soon learns to be careful with furniture. Weaving sets quickly train children mind to color perception. Enamelled working looms are built like the big industrial looms, with real treadles and shuttles, upon which a child can make fairytale rugs, carpets and many other pretty articles, from the directions.

Modeling appeals strongly to most children and is an excellent training for both hand and eye. Some of the older boys and girls will surprise you with their achievements. For the little ones, sand box sets have animals and shapes, and a big metal box to work in and confine the sand to its proper place.

Among household toys the list is almost limitless. A miniature sewing machine forever holds a little girl's interest and makes a straight seam a beautiful accomplishment. The electric iron that really irons doll's clothes is always wonderful, and a small cooking range with fairy cooking utensils encourages daughter to help mother, to learn how to "make do". The possibilities of imagination to the possibilities of a hostess. Little bathrooms, modeled like this, have tub, washstand, shower and the toys shall be wiped from every eye.

Design Selected For Monuments To Mark
Canada History Sites

Lieut-Col. C. P. Meredith, architect of Ottawa, has been adjudged the winner of the first prize in the competition arranged by the historical monuments branch of the interior department for a suitable design to mark the historical sites of Canada. W. L. Somerville, architect, Toronto, was second, and an architect from Winnipeg, third.

About 60 architects and artists from all over the dominion competed. The judges were Prof. Percy Nobbs, architect, Montreal; M. A. Marchand, architect, Montreal, and Homer Watson, artist.

The prizes were $250, $150 and $100.

The design of Col. Meredith is simple and can be adapted to any locality with the local stone of the district, and can be built massive. It is in the form of a tall, thin, 10 foot high, four feet at the base, with an inset for a bronze tablet explaining the use of the monument. The tablet is surrounded on three sides by the symbols of the three peoples,

the Indian and the British. Col. Meredith suggests that a screen of nine trees be placed behind the shrine.

These would be representative of the provinces. In Ontario the maple would be appropriate, in British Columbia the Douglas fir, and in other provinces by trees indigenous to the provinces.

It will be recalled that it was suggested by the department some time ago that stone monuments should be made of concrete, but the outcry from the architectural world that marble manufacturers was so great that the department did not carry through the project. About 200 monuments have not yet been chosen, but they will mark important events in the historic and industrial life of the dominion.

My work will be the best and my prices reasonable

Edmonton Weekly News Bulletin

Stop Seed Testing at Schools
No further seed testing for farmers will be done at the schools of agriculture in the province, according to an announcement from the department of agriculture by Hon. Geo. Houlday. It is also announced by Dean Hawes of the agricultural college at the university, that no more seed testing for farmers will be done there. For some time it has been the custom of the university to conduct seed testing in farmers at the schools of agriculture and at the college, but these seed testings had no official status. Samples of seed should be sent to the Dominion Seed Branch, Calgary.

Special Rates on Seed Grain

It has been arranged that the same reduction in freight rates as apply to seed grain sent out from the Government Seed Plant, shall apply to seed grain sent in by farmers to the plant at Edmonton. To obtain this rate it is necessary for farmers to send their seed to the plant, to the government plant, to have a certificate signed by W. J. Stephen, crops commissioner of the department of agriculture, to the effect that the seed is from crop, inspected by an inspector and eligible for registration. The reduction in rates amounts to about 45 per cent.

New Type of Hospital

Plans have been prepared by Provincial Architect R. L. G. Smith for a new type of hospital for municipal hospitals in Alberta. A demand having arisen in growing communities which are not yet able or ready to undertake the larger building enterprises, for a more moderate priced type of structure, the health department has had a new design drawn up, in which costs of building and equipment have been reduced from $2,200 per bed to $1,200 per bed. The new plan calls for a simply built building of wood construction, fully equipped with modern hospital furnishings and plant. It will be of the cottage type costing slightly over $20,000. The first point at which a building of this kind will be erected will likely be Grande Prairie, where the question of a municipal hospital scheme is still pending.

Alberta Butter Wines Prices

Alberta butter exhibitors won a total of 23 prizes at the winter show at Guelph, which has been in progress during the past week. The winners were as follows:

Section 1, Creamery butter, unsalted, 56lb box, 2nd Central Creameries, Olds; 4th, Henry Hansen, Eckville; 6, Central Creameries, Calgary.

Section 2, Creamery, salted, 56lb box, 2nd, C. Christensen, Edmonton City Dairy; 4th, Central Creameries, Calgary; 5th, Central Creameries, Ponoka.

Section 3, Creamery, salted, 56lb box, 11th Central Creameries, Calgary; 12th, W. Hansen, Lacombe; 13th, Henry Hansen, Olds; 11th Ponoka Creameries.

Section 4, Ponoka Creamery, 2nd, Central Creameries, Olds; 2nd, 4th, C. Christensen, Markerville; 5th, Central Creameries, Calgary; 7th, Henry Hansen, Eckville; 11th, W. Hansen, Lacombe.

Section 5, Creamery, 10 pints, 3rd, Central Creameries, Calgary; 5th, Central Creameries, Canmore; 7th, Central Creameries, Ponoka.

Livestock exhibits sent up by the University of Alberta found prominent places in the price list at the Guelph show. The university struck the Prince of Wales special, for best three animals at the show, two animals on which the prize was won being the junior yearling calf contributed by G. Clark, Irma; the senior yearling of Wm. Shantz, Ponoka, and the Alberta university calf "Victor."

Threshing Returns

Returns from 1,619 threshers have now been received by the department of agriculture, and the crop averages over the entire province are shown by these returns as follows: spring wheat 11 bushels; winter wheat, 11.40 bushels; oats 21 bushels; barley 11.90 bushels; rye 10.40 bushels; canola 4.60 bushels.

Crashers

The campaign that was waged against grasshoppers in Alberta during the past summer, yielded most gratifying results. Though the crops of large areas were threatened with complete destruction, the actual losses, as far reported are comparatively small. As a result of the campaign we can expect a marked reduction in the severity of the outbreak next year, throughout the greater portion of the infested territory. The outbreak is however, by no means over.

Value of Products, 1922

Alberta produced in 1922 ten million dollars' worth more in products of the land and livestock than in 1921, according to annual statistics which have been compiled by the provincial department of agriculture, in comparison with the dominant industry of agriculture.

The value of livestock slaughtered and sold, totalled $137,655,000, including value of livestock slaughtered and sold, totalled $137,655,000, and the estimate of this year's value of production is placed at $147,335,000.

The increase comes chiefly in the larger quantity of grain in the province this year, and in the substantial increase in dairy products. The quantity of grain produced in Alberta has increased by about ten million bushels, although the average per acre is lower than last year. The average price for wheat is slightly higher this year than last year.

and received the cast offings of his health. He had lost largely fighting in the great war, and his mother layed him to rest after a long day of his childhood when little hands and feet had done their best to render her happy.

Little Gertrude, for that was the name of the poor walf on the dead step, was also alone in the world. A few hours ago returning home after visiting her parents, the creamery she had found a small shanty near the entrance of the creek. The old woman had built a rough framework and huddled the poor weak body at last. Gertrude, horrified at this strange cold scene, fled from the house and wandered about the streets until at last overcome by fatigue and cold she had sought shelter on a friendly door step.

The slow hours were oblivious to the sorrow and suffering of the world. The door of the house took her shawl at midnight and wrapping a shawl about her went to see what the weather was like.

To her amazement she nearly stumbled over a bundle of rags which layed bunches on the door step. She lowering the flickering flame in order to discover what it might be and was surprised to find a poor walf of seven or eight soundly sleeping, in spite of the cold.

Touched by pity, she laid the child in her shawl and lifting the child in her arms brought her into the house. She bathed the child in warm water and after a brief rubbing with a towel, wrapped the child up well in a blanket and carried her up to bed. The child was too weak to protest and the widow, with a few rags, wrapped the shawl about her and tucked the child into the bed. Her dreams were all of wondrous pictures of gold, she was never to know the shadow of care again.

Before retiring the widow opened her window wide and gazed out into the night. The night was clear and starry and a golden moon was gilding softly across the dark expanse of blue.

The old woman sat up in her bed, a white and wan hand, and prayed to God that she might have this little walf for her own, to guard and care for her and very God answered her prayer, for in the days to come little Gertrude grew to love her with all her heart and gradually their love for each other increased until they found a fuller happiness than is the share of most mortals.

And this is a tale of Christmas for the divine Providence had led these two lonely ones unto each other on Christmas eve.

Big home appliances from the Red Deer river found their way to the Alberta specimens are about to be given a permanent home in Edmonton. A museum is now being fitted up on the top floor of the main university building in which material collected in the famous Red Deer bone quarries will be put on display.

Mr. Arthur McGehee is in danger of losing the official leadership of the opposition, with the annual stipend of $10,000 attacked thereto. Robert McGehee, president of the second largest group in the convention of Canada, will make this fact the basis for his being appointed the official leader of the opposition, thereby depriving the former premier of a notable plus.

Value of Products, 1922

Alberta produced in 1922 ten million dollars' worth more in products of the land and livestock than in 1921, according to annual statistics which have been compiled by the provincial department of agriculture, in comparison with the dominant industry of agriculture.

The value of livestock slaughtered and sold, totalled $137,655,000, and the estimate of this year's value of production is placed at $147,335,000.

The increase comes chiefly in the larger quantity of grain in the province this year, and in the substantial increase in dairy products. The quantity of grain produced in Alberta has increased by about ten million bushels, although the average per acre is lower than last year. The average price for wheat is slightly higher this year than last year.

Can You Afford to Smoke?

Why of course—what does the cost of one or two cigars a day amount to?

But their cost, if invested in a MUTUAL LIFE POLICY, might mean the difference between poverty and comfort for your family after your death. Think of it—a quarter a day—for a man between 25 and 30 will maintain approximately $4000 of life insurance. And the $4000 in cash will be there for your wife and family immediately, if you own a MUTUAL LIFE POLICY, and your call should come suddenly.

You can afford to smoke, sure, but you can also afford a MUTUAL LIFE POLICY to protect your wife and little ones.

IS THERE A MUTUAL POLICY IN YOUR HOME?

LONE RIDGE

The last meeting of the Lone Ridge U.P.A. local was held at the home of Mrs. O. G. Olson on December 7th, which was well attended despite the inclement weather. Peterson; sec-treas. J. R. Rickard; and the present board of directors were re-elected.

Resolutions were passed urging D. W. Walker, M.P., to support to his maximum the establishment of a wheat board for marketing the 1923 crop, and also protesting against the importation, manufacture and sale of oleomargarine in Canada.

The immigration question was also thoroughly discussed, resulting in the following resolution being passed unanimously:

"Whereas, we realize the necessity of immigrants, but only those who will conform to the Canadian standard of living, and

"Whereas, we do not believe in bringing into Canada a class of people of intermigrants, but a class of permanent settlers, a prosperous and contented settled, made by having access to good markets;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we favor an extensive immigration policy under the above conditions, but only after due attention has been given to the provision of adequate markets for the product of the soil."

Trapper's Family Saved By The Red Cross

In the Red Cross relief and publicity departments are on file stories of life in the far north-west that would make excellent material for writers of "best-sellers". Sometimes one of these stories will leak out to the public through the columns of a newspaper and the world will learn of the wonderful services of the Red Cross.

Such a tale comes to us from the distant point of Peace Country where the Red Cross has an outpost station, one hundred miles from the head of steel at Grande Prairie. It is the story of the endurance and fortitude of a trapper called Blizzard Guy and the open door of the emergency relief service of a Red Cross hospital.

Blizzard Guy, his partner, Happy Jack, and a number of his trapping crew, were stranded in the snow and ice from Port St. John to Heslop's Hope, the northern settlement in the B.C. interior, one thousand and seventy-five miles north of Edmonton. True to his nickname, Guy ran into blizzards every time he started for anywhere. On the treacherous trails of the ice of the Peace River he got lost and the milder weather did not help him to find his way back to the trail for two days he had to travel in the teeth of a north wind. It was no wonder that the frozen glands of his throat gave him a great deal of trouble. Indeed he was in a very bad way when his face and neck began to swell and turn black. No doctor was at hand to render aid, but two trappers came to the rescue and with some sewing gear saved his life with a wretched thumb.

They got in and it was as if Blizzard Guy had come to the end of the trail, but his friends decided to get him to all the Red Cross hospital where he would have a fighting chance for his life. They placed him on a snow and the boat bumped frequently up against huge blocks of ice which they kept going, and at last landed him in safety in the care of the Red Cross nurses in the hospital. It seemed to him as if he were entering heaven. Here was rest in a clean hospital bed, here was warmth, cleanliness, care, comfort, food and shelter.

Those who heard him tell his story of arrival and reception said that Blizzard Guy was the establishment of two important things. The first was the Red Cross hospital which was about the most perfect thing in the world of medicine. His wounds were taken care of immediately and with good nursing he was able to return to civilization. He is on his way back, and while in Whitepine, his story of endurance came to the ears of the "Press" and was published as a story of the Red Cross.

With his gratitude to the Red Cross, the trapper likes to talk about the services of the Greatest in helping in following the trail of the ice and snow to the edge of the world in her endeavor to serve humanity.

Season's Message From

CHRISTOPHER'S Grocery

To My Friends and Customers:

As we near the close of another year I wish to take this opportunity of conveying to my many friends and customers my appreciation for the confidence and business they have placed with me during the year.

There is no question but that 1922 has been a most trying year for everybody, customers and merchant alike, and for this reason I have tried harder than ever before to give to my customers the greatest possible service in the way of assistance wherever possible, and the very best value for every dollar spent with me. I trust that the public understand at least to some extent the handicap that merchants are obliged to face at present and I am sure that you will appreciate the efforts made by me to serve you faithfully and well. Most of us however, have in the past seen business conditions much worse and we have always come out all right, and I feel confident that with faith in our Province and especially in the Wetaskiwin district, that next year will be a banner year for us all. Thanking you once again for your kind favors during the past year, I am

Yours very truly,
